Announcement.

I have resigned my position with the First National Bank and have purchased the FIRE INSURANCE AGENCY from Bradley & Finger and established a General Insurance Office at Armstrong Hotel PHONE 123 When You Need Insurance.

We Are Gone Away

The editor, his better half and two youngest born of the Anvil Herald family, hit the graveled road headed east Wednesday morning, and of they haven't turned back before this reaches Anvil Herald readers they are still on their way. They do not know exactly where they are going or when they will be back. That will depend mostly upon how good the going is. You can look for them back when you see them coming, for if there should be much walking to do the boss has a pair of mighty bum legs and the time he can make is mighty uncertain.

In the meantime, the Anvil Herald home and shop is turned over to the tender mercy of the two eldest born. Be good to 'em, and send the shop plenty of work to keep them from being idle. Our faithful helpers, A. S. Burger and Joseph Collins, will still do the work, but the youngsters expect to cop a lot of glory from it. Look for us back when you hear the Ford rattlin'. Now is the time to subscribe!

A note received Friday from the Editorial Automobile Party leaves them headed for Arkansas and by this time they are probably nearing their destination—Memphis, Tenn.

GOOD HAWKS AND BAD.

The red-shouldered hawk and the broad-winged hawk prey upon the destructive rodents of the farm, and they are enormously valuable to agriculture. The most destructive hawks we have over large areas of our Central and Southern states are the sharp-shinned and the Cooper's hawk. These hawks usually perch in a tree. In many places pole traps are set for the purpose of catching hawks. The broad winged hawk and the red-shouldered hawk do not hide in a tree; they do not feel that it is necessary for them to secrete themselves. Along comes an enthusiastic, well-meaning but not well informed game protector; he puts up a pole trap because he saw a hawk catch a quail. Flying slowly across the field, comes a hawk which is beneficial to agricultural interests, alights on the pole to look around the meadow for the mouse or rat that is working near, and is caught instantly, and subsequently reported among the other vermin that have been killed.—T. G. Pearson, Pres., Nat. Audubon Soc.

WHO BOOSTS THE TAXES?

The figures recently compiled by National Industrial Conference Board show $7,997,999,999 as total taxes collected by federal, state, and local governments during 1924.

Federal taxes experienced a decline of $125,000,000 in 1924, while state taxes increased $119,000,000 and local taxes $147,000,000, thus wiping out all government savings and adding greatly to the total tax load.

Since 1919 the tendency in federal taxation has been downward, while state and local taxes have shown a steady increase. State and local taxes combined in 1924 were more than three times as large as in 1913.

The figures show clearly that we must begin right at home to get further tax reductions. It will be impossible to reduce federal taxes sufficiently to offset increases in local taxes. The time is passed when taxes can be increased with impunity and the added burden charged against wartime conditions.

"Here is the best argument I have ever heard for safe farming in Texas," says Clarence Ousley: "At a typical county seat in North Texas, the first week in February a meeting was held, attended by about two hundred farmers, bankers and leading business men of the town. Several addresses were made on the present cotton crisis and the danger of further losses from another big cotton crop. Finally one of the bankers present asked all the farmers who had corn in the crib of their own production to arise. Twelve men arose. After they were seated he asked for all farmers who had meat in the smokehouse of their own raising and curing to arise. The same twelve men arose. After they were seated he asked that all who had money in the bank which they did not borrow to arise. The same twelve men arose."

"A BARBECUE PICNIC"

Usually by the time August and September have put in their appearance all the ideas for socials and parties have become exhausted.

One unusual way to entertain formally during late summer or early fall is to give a barbecue, either as a private party, or as a community affair for financial returns.

In the west and southwest such a manner of entertainment would not be unusual, for barbecued meats can readily be obtained, and are always in evidence at the "Rodeos", fairs and picnics. Motorists who contemplate a picnic party usually order plenty of barbecued meat at the various stands devoted to that purpose.

From fifteen to thirty guests might be accommodated on a lawn for a party. If a community affair was planned, it would be best to hold it in a pasture or a meadow.

When the barbecue is planned the first preparation is to dig a trench. A good size for a pit for the lawn party would be two feet deep, two and one-half feet wide, and four and one-half feet long, the more guests the longer the trench should be. If the best results are to be obtained the bottom and sides should be lined with brick, but this can be omitted the ends are left open so coals may be dug out with a furnace poker if the meat is cooking too rapidly. Stones could be used in place of the brick. Flat stones are arranged over the top, and extended over the sides a few inches, on these rests the broiler.

For the broiler nothing is better than metal lath cut the length and width of the pit. A wood fire is necessary. This is built early enough in the afternoon so it will die down to bright coals before time to commence cooking the meat. It is best to allow about one and one-half hours for this. By starting the cooking at six p. m., plenty of time is provided for eating, one hour being allowed for cooking the meat.

Everyone who has eaten barbecued meat is surprised at its rich flavor, and the secret of that taste is the hot sauce with which the meat is basted constantly. The following is a famous western sauce recipe:

- 2 lbs butter
- 2 1-2 quarts water
- 1 cup vinegar
- 1 1-2 tablespoonsful dry mustard
- 1-4 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons salt
- 3 tablespoons chili powder
- 1 teaspoon red pepper
- 2 1-2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons Tabasco Sauce
- 3 tablespoons black pepper
- 4 tablespoons paprika
- 1 onion chopped fine
- 1 clove garlic

Mix dry ingredients first. Then add butter, cream and all liquids. Mix thoroughly, and boil slowly thirty minutes. This sauce can be prepared in the morning and is enough to baste about thirty pounds of beef or pork.

Beef is the favorite meat to barbecue, thick steaks of beef or pork chops are delicious, mutton or chickens can be barbecued, also thick slices of ham. However beef is cheapest, the least work, and very good.

When the fire has died down to bright coals the meat is dipped in the sauce, first being cut in convenient sized pieces to serve nicely. Then it is placed on the broiler and the fun begins.

A crew of workers called "swabbers" and "turners" can take charge. Each "swabber" should be armed with a long stick on the end of which is tied a roll of clean cloth. This "mop-stick" is dipped into the sauce (which should stand by conveniently in a large kettle) and is then rubbed on the meat constantly during cooking. Much of the success lies in the basting. The "turners" have long sticks on the ends of which are tied kitchen forks, they should turn the meat constantly so it will broil evenly.

When the meat is cooked tender it should be served at once. A table on the lawn or wherever the event takes place holds dishes and silver, other food may consist of potato salad, sliced tomatoes, cottage cheese, rolls or bread and butter, hot coffee and doughnuts. The coffee can be made over the trench and corn on the cob roasted at another end from the meat.

This may sound like lots of work but in reality very little work beforehand is required for the frolic. The trench can be made in a short time. If it is to be a community social several can put together and make the sauce, others furnish meat and so on. The menu can all be furnished from farmer's homes, which lessens expense if the social is to be held for financial returns.

The barbecue offers opportunity for picturesque costumes, and could take the form of a masquerade near Hallowe'en, the men coming attired as cowboys, ranch hands, Indians and Mexicans and the ladies may wear any outfit suggestive of western attire of days gone by, for the western woman of to-day does not dress any different than her eastern sister, except in the thrilling (?) western movie plays. Games can be played, an old fashioned square dance being appropriate. When all other forms of social diversions have failed try a "Barbecue" for the fun that everyone will derive from it will be worth the extra work.—The Holstein Breeder and Dairyman.

Honest.

"Can you give me a concrete instance," said Smith, "where you have reaped any benefit from being honest?"

"Yes," replied Brown, "I can.
When leaving a tram recently I tendered the conductor a coin, saying, 'you have omitted to collect my penny fare,' when I could easily have left the car without payment."

"Surely you are not going to tell me he rewarded you with a shilling?" said Smith.

"Well, not exactly," replied his friend, "but he gave me eleven pence change for sixpence."—London Tit-bits.

SOUTH'S FARMING DEVELOP- MENT JUST BEGUN.

Nevertheless, it should be frankly admitted that up to now the South has but half realized upon the advantages offered us by our long growing season. Our soils are less fertile than those of other sections, and one reason is that our mild winters—which we should make a priceless asset by having green fields of cover crops all winter long for soil-improvement and stock feeding—we have often allowed to become an agricultural liability, because on bare lands our mild winters let fertility leach away. The cold winters of the North lock up fertility there; the spring thaws find the soil neither richer nor poorer than in the fall. Here in the South, by neglecting the advantages offered by mild winters, our soils are poorer in the spring. By utilizing the mild winters, we can not only maintain soil-fertility but grow something to increase it all winter long; and this is part of a well-rounded program of agricultural progress which is fast remaking Dixie.

Farm demonstration work, home demonstration work, club work, and vocational agriculture in high schools are carrying scientific knowledge to young and old of both sexes; the eradication of cattle ticks and the campaigns against bovine tuberculosis have prepared the way for a real livestock industry at last; the development of cooperative marketing has put farming on a better business basis, and in a hundred other ways the general campaign for "Better Farming, Better Business, Better living," goes forward.

How successfully this better-farming campaign is progressing is strikingly indicated by the fact that of nine states east of the Rockies showing more than 250 per cent gain in crop values during 1900-25, five are Southern—and every other Southern state averaged more than 150 per cent gain!

Moreover, the opportunities and probabilities of further agricultural expansion are far greater in the South than in other sections for a very patent reason. I have already referred to the fact that in 1923 North Carolina, cultivating 7,000,- 000 acres, piled up $434,000,000 in crop values, while Iowa, cultivating 21,000,000 acres, reached only $481,- 000,000. There is the point: We in the South have high-value-per-acre crops and we are as yet cultivating only a fraction of the acreage that is suitable to cultivation. We have twice the growing season of the leading Western States and while they have almost reached their maximum of acreage, (Mr. Weaver in the March Review of Reviews speaks of Iowa's achievement in "marshalling 95 per cent of the state's total area into cultivated fields), our Southern States can easily double or triple their crop acreage. Of the total land surface of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kansas, and Dakota, more than half is already growing harvested crops, while as yet the percentage of land in cultivation in various Southern states is only as follows: Virginia, 23, N.
Carolina, 21; S. Carolina, 3; Georgia, 33; Florida, 5; Alabama, 25; Mississippi, 22; Louisiana, 14; Arkansas, 20; Tennessee, 23; Texas, 15.

It is plain, therefore, that as the South develops industrially, and as cities and towns grow and thereby enlarge the market for all farm products, vast new areas of farm lands will be brought into cultivation, and since the opportunity for such increase does not exist in the West, the already narrow margin between Southern and Western states in crop values will disappear, and the Southern rather than Western States will inevitably sooner or later take the lead in the nation.—Clarence Poe,

Says Mrs. Wolcott—All the Terrible Aches, Pains and Sour Bile

Like many other folks thereabouts, Mrs. Wolcott was a picture of misery.
She says: "I was ghastly white as cotton, all thinned out, bilious all the time, terrible headaches, bones creaked as if they would snap apart, ached all over, could hardly walk or lift an arm; had been taking Calomel steadily, and it made me so deathly sick I was completely discouraged.
Then one day my cousin who lives near the state line came on a visit and she had a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. My! what a change. It gave me new courage. We sent to town for two bottles, and since then my face is filled with a ruddy glow.
Gained over twenty pounds and am the picture of health. Whenever I feel bilious or constipated I take a dose of Dodson's Liver Tone and it works just fine."

This wonderful liver tone is sold by all druggists and is absolutely

"I HAVE headache once in a while, usually coming from constipation or torpid liver," says Mr. L. A. Morphis, of Pottsville, Ark., "and the very best remedy I have found to correct this condition is Thedford's Black-Draught.
It acts quickly and easily, and it just can't be beat."

"Black-Draught is the very best laxative I have found. I always feel so much better after taking it."

consider Black-Draught a family medicine."

GOLDEN WEST HAS FINISHED NEW WELL IN MEDINA COUNTY.

Golden West Oil Company has completed its No. 6 Schmidt in the Ina field. It is not on the pump yet but has the appearance of being a good well. It will be washed about three days and be put on the pump some time early next week.

Arnett Oil Company is preparing to set casing in its No. 4 Nixon which is located southeast of its No. 1 Nixon and in the direction of the Henderson & Holden stuff on the Adams tract. This well will be of considerable interest since a producing oil well there will extend the Ina field in the direction of the Henderson & Holden gas area and will bring the Ina field to within a half mile or so of the McBride well drilled a couple of years ago in which oil rose 400 feet but was prevented from making a well by water trouble. The McBride well is less than a half mile from the Henderson & Holden gas wells.

Southern Gas Company has spudded in its test on the E. B. Chandler tract in Survey 13 next south of the Adams tract on which gas wells are located. The location is 700 feet south of the north line of the Chandler tract and 400 feet east of the west line. Witherspoon is drilling northeast of the gas wells and Sprague et al are nearly ready to set casing in their No. 1 Redus in Survey 92 located 3,500 feet north of their No. 1 Howard in Survey 91 which got a showing of oil at around 1,100 feet.

Golden West's No. 1 Joseph Cour- and southwest of Castroville is on a hard rock at 685 feet.

It is reported that Medina Oil Company is preparing to put in a big derrick and heavy duty rig and drill a 4,000-foot test four miles south of Hondo on the Taylor tract where the company got oil at 356 feet in the Taylor No. 1. — Friday's Express.
